

State Minister for Information and Technology Poongothai Aladi Aruna and vice-president and head of TCS- Chennai operations Ravi Viswanathan presenting the trophy to the winners of TCS IT Wiz 2010 in Chennai.

Hindu SSS is hi-tech wizard

NT Bureau

Chennai, Aug 20:

Hindu Senior Secondary School has won the TCS IT Wiz 2010 Chennai Edition Award.

State Minister for Information and Technology Poongothai Aladi Aruna, after presenting the prizes, said that nearly 35 per cent of the sourcing from IT was from Tamilnadu and added that the new generation has more knowledge and was well aware of the field.

Around 1810 students from 282 schools participated in the technology quiz competition.

The winners of the trophy Manigandan and Varun Sekar of Hindu Senior Secondary School were presented a laptop each and the runner-up BVB Rajaji Vidhyashram was given Netbook. The third place was shared by Vidya Mandhir and Hari Shree Vidyashram.

Later, the six regional finalists were honoured with prizes such as backpacks, MP3 players, headphones, T-shirts and water sippers.

State Minister for Information and Technology Poongothai Aladi Aruna, after presenting the prizes, said that nearly 35 per cent of the sourcing from IT was from Tamilnadu.

The regional rounds would be conducted in Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Bangalore, Coimbatore, Pune, Kolkata, Bhubaneshwar, Kochi, Lucknow, Delhi and Mumbai.

The winners of these 12 regions would compete in the finals for TCS IT Wiz National Champion that would be held on 18 December this year.

Vice-president and Head of TCS- Chennai operations Ravi Viswanathan was also present in the occasion.