LUCKNOW: Last year, they could not make it to the finals of the TCS IT Wiz. But Lucknow Public School students Pranshu Agarwal and Himanshu promised themselves they would make a comeback in the 2011 edition of the quiz and take away the champions' trophy. On Wednesday, the duo made their dream a reality, defeating over 1,200 students from all over UP and Uttarakhand.

The champions took home a Galaxy Tablet each and a digital camera. But this is not the final victory. The team will represent the region in the national finals to be held in December. They will compete with 12 teams from different parts of the country. Air tickets for the national finals, a stay at a five star hotel and dinner with Chandrasekeran, CEO TCS are among the added treats in store for the IT wizards. Runners up from Seth MR Jaipuria, Ansh and Samrid Kudesia, received trophies along with an iPod touch.

Elated over his victory, Pranshu said, "I have been participating in the TCS IT Wiz for the past five years. Each year, the questions are getting tougher and so is the competition. But we are glad we made it this time." His team member Himanshu said, "Now it is time we start with our preparations for the finals."
