Satishchandra Doreswamy is Vice President & Global Head, Cloud Infrastructure, at Tata Consultancy Services (TCS). In this role, Satish leads the team in building a sustainable and scalable enterprise cloud business to help TCS customers navigate their hybrid cloud transformation journey.

Satish leads a strong team of cloud infrastructure experts to address and stay ahead of the rising market demand, advising them on the best ways to help customers achieve digital transformation success through cloud enablement. Satish is recognized for helping the team gain significant market share and mind share globally, all through leveraging TCS' contextual knowledge, gained through customer engagements. Under his leadership, the team expanded its global presence with 14 availability zones (cloud centers).

Satish has about 29 years of experience, providing leadership across strategy, sales, delivery operations, business management, and mergers & acquisitions. Satish has been with TCS for more than 25 years, working in infrastructure services, banking and financial services and BPO operations.

He currently resides in Bangalore, India with his wife and two children. Outside of work, Satish is an avid nature and wildlife photographer and spends his leisure time in nature trails and participating in philanthropic activities.
